How about your own personal music library direct from your MP3 player or computer hard drive?

Or hi-fi sound from your bedroom television?

Each room can have its own 'local'
input, personalising your listening experience.

In any room in your home ...

...this is the way home entertainment should be, listening to your favourite music or enjoying a movie in any room you choose.

The great thing is, all of this is achieved in a very discrete and space efficient way – no need for big unsightly black boxes, Systemline Modular is a built-in solution.

It couldn't be easier. Just plug-in your hi-fi or home theatre system and go! It's as simple as that.

Best of all, Systemline delivers all of this in unparalleled high fidelity sound – thanks to its unique purpose designed amplified in-ceiling loudspeakers.

Using Systemline Modular is so simple, just press a button on the wall keypad or remote control... and enjoy!
